

Price of Covering Irregularly Shaped Electrical Boxes

AI Overview

Electrical box covers for irregularly shaped boxes typically range from $2 to $25 per cover, depending on material, size, and weatherproofing.

Cost Overview

The price of covers for irregularly shaped electrical boxes varies based on material, size, and functionality:

- Plastic or thermoplastic covers: These are the most common and affordable, generally costing $2 to $10 per cover. They are lightweight, easy to install, and suitable for indoor applications or standard irregular shapes with slight misalignment allowances (e.g., RACO mud ring covers) .
- Metal covers: Durable steel or aluminum covers, often used for outdoor or industrial applications, range from $5 to $25 depending on thickness, corrosion resistance, and UL listing . These are ideal for irregular boxes that require extra protection against impact or weather.
- Weatherproof or outdoor covers: For boxes exposed to moisture, such as outdoor outlets or junctions, weatherproof covers with gaskets and powder-coated finishes typically cost $10 to $20 . These covers can accommodate irregular shapes with adjustable mounting slots or flexible designs.
- Blank or utility covers: If the goal is simply to close off an unused irregular box, blank covers are available in plastic or metal, usually priced $2 to $15 .
